(Case Study)*(1 × 15 = 15)

14. "The success and failure of programmes meant for attracting the FDI should be gauged by the size and rapidity with which the FDI flows in response to the initiative of the government. The other parameter that also measures the confidence of the investors is the demand of guarantees or any kind of payment security. If the investors are ensured and comfortable with the system, they do not ask for such mechanism" – Comment.
