11 Case study:

AAA Hand Loom (AAAHL) is a weaving factory which covers around 50% of market. There are seven small factories (seven subsidiaries) which are owned by boss of AAAHL. Each subsidiary has fourteen (14) handlooms on its own. It has 98 (7 * 14) handlooms in several places of Maruthamunai. There are seven handloom factories (7 owners-muthalaalies). Each has employees (weavers) & assistants to employees (assistant to weavers). Management hierarchy refers to all top level, middle level and lower level functions are carried out by seven handloom factories (7 owners-muthalaalies) on their own and alone. Owners (7 owners-muthalaalies) act as top level executive, functional manager and lower level manager (supervisor). Owner (boss) is the overall in charge of the 7 handloom factories.

- (a) Evaluate the HRP status in AAAHL.
- (b) Do you feel existing structure is good enough to manage? If not what kind of changes would you like to make in terms of HR planning and why?
