- Note :
- (i) This Question Paper consists of two Sections, viz., 'A' and 'B'.
 - (ii) All the questions from Section 'A' are compulsory.
 - (iii) Section 'B' has two options. Candidates are required to attempt questions from one option only.
 - (iv) Marks are indicated against each question.

SECTION-A

1. Read the extracts given below and answer the questions that follow :

- (a) Whenever I went to my uncle's house my favorite pastime used to be to take out his pullovers and caress them with a sense of longing. I was so attracted by the India test pullovers that once I even dared to ask him if I could take one, since he had so many. My uncle told me that one has to sweat and earn the India 'colours' and I too should work hard to earn the distinction. That is a lesson I have never forgotten.

- (i) What used to be the writer's favorite pastime whenever he went to his uncle's house? 1
- (ii) What did the writer ask his uncle? 1
- (iii) What lesson did the writer's uncle teach him? 1
- (iv) Pick out the words from the extract which are similar in meaning to the following expressions : $\frac{1}{2} + \frac{1}{2} = 1$
to touch something gently

a strong feeling of wanting something

OR

Along with this religious counsel, there were a series of visits to hakims (physicians who followed the Greek or Unani system of medicine). These quacks prescribed all types of concocted drops to put in my eyes. The surmas, which were administered at all hours of the day and night, burned and stung my eyes; and the only soothing part of the miserable ordeal was the loving caress of mother afterwards.

(i) What did the writer's mother do to revive his sight? 1

(ii) "The writer had to go through miserable ordeal everyday."

Cite evidence from the extract in support of the above statement. 1

(iii) What was the soothing part of the miserable ordeal? 1

(iv) Pick out the words from the extract which are similar in meaning to the following expressions : $\frac{1}{2} + \frac{1}{2} = 1$

a person who dishonestly claims to have medical knowledge or skills

a difficult or unpleasant experience

(b) It was a long ride to the Sorley farm and the sight of a man walking alone along the country road, as seen just ahead by the lights of the car, was a welcome relief to the doctor. He slowed down and looked at the man walking along with difficulty against the wind, a little package under his arm.

Coming alongside, Doctor Benson stopped and invited the man to ride. The man got in.

(i) What was a welcome relief to the doctor? Why? 1

(ii) Pick out the expressions which suggest that it was a windy night. 1

(iii) Why did Doctor Benson stop? 1

(iv) Pick out the words from the extract which are similar in meaning to the following expressions : $\frac{1}{2} + \frac{1}{2} = 1$

the act of removing pain and anxiety

a box or a bag, etc., in which things are wrapped up

OR

Tembu, who was twelve, did not always sleep with his father at the station, for he had also to help in the home, where his mother and small sister were usually alone. They lived in a small tribal village on the outskirts of the forest, about three miles from the station. Their small rice fields did not provide them with more than a bare living and Baldeo considered himself lucky to have got the job of Khalasi at this small wayside signal stop.

- (i) Why didn't Tembu always sleep with his father at the station? 1
- (ii) Where did Tembu and his family live? 1
- (iii) Quote the details from the extract which suggest that Tembu's family was very poor. 1
- (iv) Pick out the words from the extract which are similar in meaning to the following expressions : $\frac{1}{2} + \frac{1}{2} = 1$
- the parts of a town or city that are furthest from the centre
- in the way that is normal; most often

2. Answer any three of the following questions in about 30–40 words each : $2 \times 3 = 6$

- (a) What kind of life did the writer's grandfather lead when he was a small boy?

(Father, Dear Father)

- (b) What unique place does India have in relation to wind energy?

(Fuel of the Future)

- (c) What does Aradhana's mother ask her to do to prove her love for her parents?

(I Must Know the Truth)

- (d) What model of change does Gandhiji provide? What are its advantages?

(India—Her Past and Future)

3. Answer the following in about 60 words : 6

(Bholi)

4. Read the following extract and answer the questions that follow :

There is a house now far away where once
I received love ... That woman died,
The house withdrew into silence, snakes moved
Among books, I was then too young
To read, and my blood turned cold like the moon

- (a) Whose house was that? Why does the poet cherish that house so much? 2
(b) What happened to the house after the grandmother died? 2
(c) Why was the poet not able to read books? 1

OR

My mother twisted through and through groaning on a mat
My father, sceptic, rationalist,
trying every curse and blessing,
powder, mixture, herb and hybrid.
He even poured a little paraffin upon the bitten toe and put a match to it.

- (a) The poet’s mother was suffering from severe pain. Pick out the lines which indicate that pain. 2
(b) What type of a person was the poet’s father? 1
(c) Make a list of the remedies that were tried to cure the poet’s mother. 2

5. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

The famous Margosa oil is obtained from the yellow fruit of the tree. It is used as an effective source of medication for the treatment of leprosy and skin diseases. The external application of the oil from the seed is also believed to cure rheumatism. The bark and gum yield valuable medicines. In fact, every part of the tree is of some value. The timber from the neem tree is beautiful, hard and heavy, and is used for shipbuilding and for making carts and furniture. The wood from the old trees is so bitter that no insect will touch it.

- (a) Name the tree mentioned in the above lines. From which part of this tree is Margosa oil obtained and what is it used for? 2

- (d) What is the timber from this tree used for? 2

6. Read the passage given below and answer the questions that follow :

Through all these years, Galileo kept up his varied and lively interests. He was an artist, he played the lute and organ, he wrote songs, poems and literary criticism. These and even his scientific writings were lively and witty in style. Indeed, it was Galileo's way of writing that probably caused the most trouble between him and the authorities. In an age when most scholars wrote in Latin, Galileo chose to write in Italian.

Galileo's many discoveries, theories and books are all very important. But his main achievement is that he established for all time, the need and the right of scientists to question. Above all, he insisted on searching for the truth. He was still searching when he died in 1642. As we now know, he had laid the groundwork of modern physics.

- (a) Pick out the details from the passage which indicate that Galileo was an artist. 2
- (b) What were the special features of Galileo's writing? 2

- (c) What is Galileo's main achievement? 2
- (d) Pick out the words from the passage which are similar in meaning to the following expressions : 2
- able to say or write clever, amusing things
- a large musical instrument with keys like a piano

7. Read the passage given below and complete the statements that follow :

I discovered that the place exactly corresponded to the details described. But it was the hostess, particularly, and her husband and their little daughter who really proved to be the centre of attraction to me.

The lady belonged to the South, though she had married a North Indian. She was rather dark, but had a very pleasant face, all smiles and kindness. The husband was a huge swarthy man, with large, bony limbs. He was extremely well-mannered and there was not a trace of that untempered roughness which one finds in most men hailing from the North.

- (a) But it was the hostess, particularly, (i) who really (ii) to me. 1
- (b) She was (i), but had a very (ii) and kindness. 1
- (c) The husband was a (i), with (ii) limbs. 1
- (d) He was extremely well-mannered and (i) roughness which one finds (ii) the North. 1

8. Read the passage given below and make a summary in about 100 words : 5

There were some positive gains in my otherwise undistinguished years at school. I learnt to love the English language. And poetry, both in English and Urdu. My eyes also became more receptive to things of beauty. I picked up English quite rapidly on my own. Since there was no one to guide me at home, it was acquired haphazardly by reading and rereading strip cartoons in the English children's weekly Puck, illustrated stories from the Bible, and volumes of The Book of Knowledge. On my own, I went on to Edgar Rice Burroughs' series, Tarzan the Ape Man, and Rider Haggard's novels on Africa. Very often I got the meanings of words wrong and mispronounced them.

My interest in English became more organized when a young English lady, Miss Budden, took over English classes. Instead of going over boring textbooks, she read us Ivanhoe, Last of the Barons, and Tess. She read us children's stories by Oscar Wilde and short poems by Shakespeare.

One of the most magical places I've ever been to is Ninfa, south of Rome, between the mountains and the sea. I don't know what's happened to it now, it was the property of an English family. It has been a holy site for thousands of years. A stream of very fast, cool water ran down the mountain there, making its way to the sea, and to the area of beautifully, watered land—in the middle of what is probably not very good land—gave it a quality which people came to revere. They built their temples, they built their churches, and the gardens have, in the meantime, overgrown all these temples and churches.
